Press Release Immediate Release

Noizend Signs MOU with AKA Acoustics Sydney, Australia

Noizend Pty Ltd, an emerging leader in low-frequency noise control, has made a significant step forward in reducing low-frequency noise pollution. It signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the significant sound acoustics company, AKA Acoustics, agreeing to enter a future distribution agreement for Noizend's innovative Noizend Shields.

AKA Acoustics has over thirty-five years of combined experience designing and building high-performance spaces for critical listening and multimedia interaction and remarkably world-class recording studios, theatres, auditoria, and immersive audio installations.

Noizend is developing innovative technology products to reduce excessive low-frequency noise pollution. A major industry player in the acoustics space will provide significant commercial development for Noizend when it starts to manufacture and install Noizend Shields, which will improve people's lives by reducing excessive low-frequency noise.

This MOU will provide a commercial pipeline to customers via a proven, successful acoustics company.

Quote from Paul Monsted, CEO of Noizend:

"This MOU with AKA Acoustics is not just a relationship; it's a significant milestone that underscores Noizend Shields's commercial potential. By aligning with a leader in acoustic solutions, we are poised to accelerate our market fit development and deliver substantial returns for our investors."

Quote from George Tulloch, CTO of Noizend:

"Our relationship with AKA Acoustics exemplifies our commitment to innovation and market leadership. By integrating and leveraging their expertise to inform our cutting-edge technology, we create a powerful synergy poised for substantial growth. This collaboration highlights our forward-thinking approach and sends a clear message to investors about the promising opportunities that lie ahead."

Quote from Daniel Natoli, Managing Director & Principal of AKA Acoustics:

"We are excited to sign this Memorandum with Noizend and bring their cutting-edge Noizend Shields to our customers. This collaboration addresses a critical market need and positions both companies at the cutting edge of innovation."
